

NE Region Website

Access and Use of Discussion Forums

The “Discussion Forum” is intended to be a place where members can post and discuss specific issues with other members of the Region. A few specific discussion topics were established when this section was first activated but new discussion topics can be established when desired with relative ease. We hope the Region Membership takes advantage of this feature to discuss areas of interest to members of the NE Region.

The “Discussion Forum” section of the Region Website is actually an independent module with transparent links to and from the Region website. In addition, it is available to only Region Members AFTER they have logged in to the Region Site. Prior to log-in access to the “Discussion Forum” is not even displayed on the left navigation bar but does appear after log-in.

Because of this configuration, the “Discussion Forum” does require a specific “Log-in” to this forum. Once the initial log-in has been established, it is available for future repeat visits. As the Discussion Forum is limited to members of the NE Region, we ask that each member use their real name as their “User Name” for the Forum log-in purposes but a different “Password” can be used in desired.

The following are the steps to log-in to the NE Region “Discussion Forum”:

Log in to the Region Website;

1- Click on “Discussion Forum” on left navigation bar;

2- When Forum introductory page opens, please read the page and then click on “Enter the Forum”;

3- When the NE Region Discussion Forum “Home” page opens, click on “Register” which is in the upper right just below the page heading;

4- This opens the “Registration” screen where you establish you “User Name” and “Password”.

As noted above, as this Forum is limited to NE Region Members, please use your real name or a recognized nick name as your “User Name” for this purpose. After this initial Registration, you do not have to register for each visit but you do have to enter your “User Name” and Password” to post to the Forum;

5- Future log-in can occur by clicking on “Log-in” in the top heading on the page that opens after you click on “Enter the Forum” or by completing the log-in information at the bottom of this page.

If you encounter any problems, check with either you Chapter or the Region Webmaster.